You must obtain our permission before publishing or reproducing our content (or parts of it) elsewhere. When you contribute content, you give us a license to use, host, store, reproduce, adapt, create derivative works (such as those resulting from adaptations or other changes to make your content work better on our website), communicate, publish and distribute such content.

Viewing & Using Our Content

You can view any content you have rightful access to on the British Dodgeball website on-screen on your device or via printouts, for your personal use only.

You must not:

- Copy or publish the content or parts of it.
- Use the content for any commercial, business, re-sale, distribution or group purpose without our express permission.
- Rent, lease, sub-licence, loan, translate, merge, adapt, vary or modify the content or, create any derivative works without our express permission.

We don't make any guarantees that the advice in any of the content is suitable for your personal needs. You must make your own assessment as to whether to act on any guidance. We will not be liable for any loss caused because of you doing (or not doing) something as a result of viewing, reading or listening to our content.

We update our site regularly and change it at any time without notice.

Safeguards For Children & Young People

With the exception of specific leaders awards, our coach education content is not aimed at children.

However, on 1 September 2021 under UK GDPR:

- the definition of 'child' changed from anyone 13 or under to anyone under 18
- websites are considered directly available to children when no age restrictions are in place, or when any age restrictions in place allow users under the age of 18.

The age-limit on some coaching courses and workshops is lower than 18. Anyone under the age of 18 must obtain parental consent to register for any courses or workshops. Parent/guardians are deemed to accept these terms and conditions upon their charge registering for the event and are responsible for ensuring the details submitted are accurate.

Please note, content may indeed feature children as many coaches in the UK coach children. We only post content that features children in accordance with good child protection in sport practice. If you come across anything on our site which you think is abusive or inappropriate, please report it to us so we can put it right by emailing hello@britishdodgeball.com.

Changes & Termination Of Services

We will contact you if we make a significant change to a product or service we are providing to you to let you know. This may include postponements, changes of venues, or changes to content. We reserve the right to edit or remove content, learning and offers available at any time.

British Dodgeball reserves the right to suspend or terminate your access to services at any time, with or without notice or explanation, if we believe you have failed to comply with these terms or if necessary payments have not been met.

Terms Of Sale

Placing An Order

You may place an order for services on our website at any time, or by emailing hello@britishdodgeball.com to place and order and pay by invoice. We will send you an email to confirm the details of your order once your payment has been verified and your order has been processed.

If any registered details change, please notify British Dodgeball via email: hello@britishdodgeball.com.

Medical Conditions, Injuries and First Aid

By registering and accepting these terms, you confirm that you are fit and well to participate in any physical activity that you choose to take part in during an event. You should disclose any relevant medical conditions upon ordering; this includes (but is not limited to) physical ailments, disabilities and learning difficulties that may need to be taken into account upon delivery of the event.

British Dodgeball shall use its reasonable endeavours to ensure that appropriate First Aid assistance will be provided by the venue or tutor for the duration of the event. Our face to face workshops and coaching courses contain a significant amount of practical activity, however participation in this is not mandatory for taking part in, or passing, a course; participants should assess themselves if they are physically fit and well enough to take part in practical activity throughout the day.

British Dodgeball shall not be liable for any injury or loss occurring as a result of attending an event (including, without limitation, any losses resulting from negligence), provided that nothing in these terms and conditions shall exclude or limit British Dodgeball's liability for death or personal injury resulting from negligence or for any other type of liability that cannot be excluded or limited by law.

Pricing

The price of the services or products are displayed on our website at the time you place your order, or will be shared with you during booking via email. Unless stated otherwise, all prices displayed are inclusive of VAT. All prices are subject to change without prior notice.

Cancellations, Postponements, Refunds & Non-Attendance

For information on cancellations and refunds, please refer to our Refund & Cancellation Policy on the Governance page of the British Dodgeball website. British Dodgeball may provide online alternatives to provide service to a non-attender of a course or workshop, but this is at our discretion.

British Dodgeball reserves the right to cancel or postpone any event; British Dodgeball shall not be liable for any losses incurred by you as a result of cancellation of an event. If postponed by British Dodgeball, this is usually because the minimum numbers required to run an open course were not met; in this case, a new date will be set and you will be contacted by email to update you and check if you wish to remain booked in, move to another course or cancel your place. If cancelled by British Dodgeball, a full refund of the ticket price will be made to the card used to confirm the booking.

British Dodgeball shall be entitled to cancel, postpone or change an event if it is deemed necessary to do so as a result of a 'Force Majeure' event (an event beyond the reasonable control of British Dodgeball. We shall not be liable for any loss, damages or expenses incurred by you as a result (including as a result of negligence) except in respect of losses that cannot be excluded by law.

Compliance & Offensive Speech

You agree to comply with British Dodgeball's and an event venue's policies and procedures during the event. British Dodgeball reserves the right to refuse admission to any person it considers to be unsuitable for admission or to remove any such person after commencement of the event.

The opinions expressed by speakers at events are their own and are not necessarily the views of British Dodgeball. Should you wish to report something which you found to be offensive, please email coaching@britishdodgeball.com and follow our safeguarding policy if relevant.
